

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

This application discloses an anode-terminal cover for covering an anode-electrode terminal of a display and a display using the same. In particular, this anode-terminal cover includes an insulating body and a conductive contact portion disposed in part of the insulating body being in contact with the display during the mounting of the anode-terminal cover on the display.